Solar Gard has appointed Peter Staelens as regional manager of EMEA (Europe, Middle East and Africa).

Staelens will be responsible for expanding Solar Gard's installer and partner network across Europe and growing market awareness for the company's line of carbon-negative architectural solar control window films.

With more than 25 years' experience, Staelens offers expertise on energy-saving practices for buildings. Prior to joining Solar Gard, he was a director of the Door Service Business at KONE Belgium, a global leader in the elevator and escalator industry.

Fluent in six languages, Staelens holds a degree in Architectural Engineering from Belgium's Leuven University and achieved a Masters in building physics from Chalmers University of Technology in Göteborg, Sweden.
